Executive Council Candidate 2017

LGBT

Iain Croker

Iain Croker

You may be LGBT or love friends and family who are. I am asking for your vote to represent them.

I have been cabin crew for British Airways and Unite member since 1998. I am BASSA Equalities Officer.

The political events of 2016 have left many members feeling unsettled and nervous of a future which indicates less tolerance and equality in society. While many are disengaged and cynical with traditional party politics, others are turning to unions like Unite for protection and representation.

Sitting on both the regional and national LGBT committees, I witness first-hand the challenges and issues our members face in the workplace but also the incredible achievements made by our activists across the country. We face uncertain times; with hate crimes increasing and politics lurching to the right, it is vital we keep up the pressure and demand equality and fairness for ALL members in our society.

Trade Unions were built from working people. There has been an historic and welcome shift in attitudes towards LGBT workers and Unions have played a huge part in this. However, some with a political agenda encourage hostility towards minorities to hide the failing of national government to address the social and economic divisions that exist across the UK. It's time to end the excuses and squash the inequality. Like you, I joined this union because I believed we can achieve so much more together than working alone.

Our Union needs real change now rather than empty promises. Please help us make the change by voting for all independent Unite Alliance candidates. Please vote for Hamed Chohan (BAEM) Alex DeWinter (Disabled) and Alexandra Haworth (Youth)

As your LGBT candidate for the Executive Council I guarantee YOUR voice will be heard at the highest level.
